

FIRST FRAME

Scrolling Psychology & Content Strategy

Zara × Jacquemus Analysis + Conceptual Campaign Proposal

“Make the first frame worth the pause.”

SECTION 1

Scrolling Psychology & Content Study

Understanding what stops the thumb – before building anything.

WHY THE FIRST FRAME MATTERS

13ms

The brain processes visuals before
conscious thought fires

60%

of scroll-stop decisions happen subconsciously – involuntary visual reflex

VISUAL

Contrast · Colour · Motion

EMOTIONAL

Aspiration · Nostalgia · Humour

SOCIAL

Identity · Belonging · Recognition

ZARA

61.6M followers • 0.36% estimated engagement

Visual tension

Angular poses, motion blur, mystery composition

Faceless editorial

Garment becomes subject — viewer self-projects

Neutral palette

One statement colour per frame, nothing more

Distance creates desire

Admiration, not familiarity

"Admiration from a distance"

JACQUEMUS

6.85M followers • 2.95% estimated engagement

Emotion-first

Lavender fields, golden hour, Mediterranean warmth

Authentic faces

Simon himself appears – parasocial bond at scale

Human captions

Written as a person, not a brand

Belonging creates loyalty

You are invited inside his world

"You are invited inside his world"

KEY INSIGHT

Two Strategies. One Goal. Opposite Psychology.

	ZARA	JACQUEMUS
Mode	Thinking	Feeling
Hook	Visual puzzle / mystery	Emotional warmth / story
Sells	Garment as art object	Garment as a way of life
Mechanism	Projection effect	Parasocial bond

"Both stop the scroll. Neither way is wrong."

Psychology Cheat Sheet

The principles behind every creative decision – applied.

CORE PSYCHOLOGICAL PRINCIPLES

Orienting Response

Unexpected motion/colour triggers involuntary pause

Mirror Neurons

Authentic expressions activate instant empathy

Parasocial Bond

Genuine personal moments build loyalty, not just admiration

Incongruity Theory

Unexpected element in familiar context forces a stop

Haptic Imagination

Fabric close-ups make the brain simulate touch

Projection Effect

Remove the face - viewer inserts themselves

Nostalgia Trigger

Warm golden light activates positive emotional memory

Three-Act Narrative

Setup → tension → resolution - even in 8 seconds

APPLIED IN CONTENT

Principle	Applied in	Expected Impact
Colour shock	Post 01 — Architecture Reveal	Explore reach + Reel replays
Haptic imagination	Post 02 — Texture Carousel	3× more saves vs single image
Projection effect	Post 03 — Faceless Statement	2× average profile visits
Nostalgia + mirror	Post 04 — Golden Hour Field	Highest share + comment rate
Lifestyle narrative	Post 05 — Still Life	Saves exceed likes (evergreen)
Parasocial bond	Post 06 — Founder Moment	Highest comments + DMs
Incongruity / humour	Post 07 — Contrast Clash	Viral potential + Explore signal
Three-act narrative	Post 08 — Before & Within	Highest carousel completion
